THE LIST

Musso & Frank Grill

o Opened: 1919

o History: A legendary dining spot located in the heart of Hollywood, Musso & Frank is known for its culinary delights including its Rib Eye Steak, Scallops, and Caesar Salad. A favorite of Hollywood icons for over a century its rich history includes serving Charlie Chaplin, Elizabeth Taylor, Dashiell Hammett, Frank Sinatra (the list is impressively endless) along with THE best martinis in town.

THE LIST

The Polo Lounge

o Opened: 1941

o History: If I had my druthers the Beverly Hills Hotel would be my home and The Polo Lounge where I sip my morning cappuccino. Synonymous with Hollywood glamour Marilyn Monroe lived in Bungalow 1 and table 6 was her favorite spot to dine. The menu is classic American and if dessert souffles are your weakness their Grand Marnier souffle is not to be missed. Be sure to order it along with your meal as it takes extra time and magic to prepare.

THE LIST

The Formosa Cafe

- o Opened: 1939

- o History: The origin of this establishment dates back to the 1920's as the Red Post Café however, after changes of ownership The Formosa Café officially opened its doors in 1939. Serving delectable "Asian eats alongside nostalgia" the Fiery Orange Chicken and Secret Garden Cocktail could send your senses into overdrive in the best possible way. Enter the doors that Bugsy Siegel, James Dean, and Elvis Presley (to name a few) once stepped through for a dining experience to remember.

THE LIST

The Rainbow Bar & Grill

o Opened: 1972

o History: A rock n' roll institution the Rainbow on Sunset Boulevard in Hollywood has become a gathering place for live music and legendary musicians for decades. On any given night during the 70's and 80's you would see Elton John, Alice Cooper, John Lennon, Guns n' Roses, and if you were lucky, David Lee Roth in between the 13 times he was thrown out. If music runs through your veins the way all great music does, The Rainbow Bar & Grill is a "Note"able watering hole. See what I did there?
